

Bike to Train

What is Bike to Train?

A one-off event, for one day only, on the last day of Aotearoa Bike Challenge month:

Wednesday
28 February 2018

At Meadowbank Train Station, there will be secure bicycle parking on the train station platform!

And... a coffee cart! With FREE coffee for people who turn up on a bicycle.

To make it easier, clear wayfinding signs will be put up around Meadowbank and St Johns.

Why Bike to Train in Meadowbank?

Meadowbank Train Station is a long walk from the Town Centre, and from much of our suburb. So, many people choose to drive instead. But parking is becoming more and more difficult in the streets around the station. For some, cycling could make sense as an alternative. But cycling to the station is not without its challenges either. Which routes are safest? Will my bicycle be secure if I leave it there all day? This event is a pilot trial, to see if decent wayfinding signs and secure cycle parking, on the station platform, in line of sight of the CCTV (and, yes, even a free coffee) could make a difference.

We're active in our community – advocating for our members (and achieving some notable successes).

Current issues include:

- Local connections to Stage II of the $40 million Shared Pathway to link us with the city
- Large scale housing developments: Summerset on Parson's Paddock, the SHA on Meadowbank Rd and Housing NZ on Purewa St
- Bus routes: buses to the Meadowbank Train Station, saving the buses on Panapa Drive
